FIU ASIAN STUDIES PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS CHECKLIST

GRADUATE PROGRAM CERTIFICATE

The Asian Studies Program offers a number of Certificate Programs, which are available to degree-seeking students at the graduate level. Each certificate requires 15 credits of studies with a specific focus on an aspect of Asian culture, society, language, or business. Students may enroll in and take courses toward a certificate program prior to graduation; however, certificates cannot be awarded until the student has attained an M.A. or its equivalent graduate degree program from FIU. Contact asian@fiu.edu for more information.

Below, you will find a worksheet that will help you evaluate your course progress:

ASIAN STUDIES GRADUATE CERTIFICATE

The Asian Studies graduate certificate requires a total of fifteen (15) credits and includes the following:

- a) 15 credits (five courses) focusing on Asian Studies: This can include courses on global or comparative topics that have a significant component on Asia. Students can choose between two areas of concentration, language or non-language. See sample listing of courses on the catalog for Core and Asian Area Studies requirements (additional courses will be considered).

Asian Studies and Asian Area Studies coursework listed on the catalog to be chosen with the approval of the Director (with a "C" or better). The program is geared towards students whose studies emphasize a traditional area studies approach to culture and society.

Students must apply early for the graduate certificate to not delay the graduation term and certificate processing. Payment is required and it must be paid promptly to the OneStop/FIU Graduate Admissions office. Students cannot pursue a graduate certificate as a stand-alone program; graduate certificates must be sought alongside a graduate degree program. Contact an advisor for details.
