FIU ASIAN STUDIES PROGRAM REQUIREMENTS CHECKLIST

UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAM CERTIFICATE

The Asian Studies Program offers a number of Certificate Programs, which are available to degree-seeking students at the undergraduate level. Each certificate requires 18 credits of studies with a specific focus on an aspect of Asian culture, society, language, or business. Students may enroll in and take courses toward a certificate program prior to graduation; however, certificates cannot be awarded until the student has attained a B.A. or its equivalent from FIU. Contact asian@fiu.edu for more information.

Below, you will find a worksheet that will help you evaluate your course progress:

SOUTH AND SOUTHEAST ASIA AREA STUDIES UNDERGRADUATE CERTIFICATE

The South and Southeast Asian Area Studies certificate requires a total of eighteen (18) credits and includes the following:

- a) South/Southeast Asia Area Studies: Choose from the courses listed in the catalog with the approval of the Director (with a grade of "C" or better). Contact an advisor for details.
- b) Language: There is no specific language requirement to be met, although it is recommended.

South/Southeast Asia Area Studies coursework listed in the catalog. In addition to the courses listed in the catalog, relevant special topics, area studies, comparative studies, or study abroad courses may also be applied. Students should consult with an advisor for the certificate program about current course offerings and a full list of courses accepted for the certificate.
